Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy leet, collects the invisible ferms of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholers. The mosquito with its bits injects into our veins malaria and yellow lever. The becteria of consumption, or frip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The biood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white hiood corpuscles—espable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Goiden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of hioodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over loviy years. The refreshing ingood reputation for over lorly years. The refreshing in-fluence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is hathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body hurn hrighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Ma. Michael. Madding, of. National Military Hemo-Kans. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I fried failed to do me good. Finally I saw fr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I fook one initie of it and the chills vanished. In about a year alterward I felt them coming back so I got another initie and have never had any symptoms of fever or sgue since. That is all of twenty years ago, for thad the chills about twelve years before I started to take 'Golden Medical thiscovery."

The Deadlock

"She seems so ilttle to be sent to school," said Mrs. Richmond, looking yearningly at her diminutive daughter, who was seated in a corner of the fiving room, disciplining, with great earnestness and sternness, her large family of dolls.

"I wouldn't send her, then," said Richmond, easily. "What difference does it make whether she goes this year or not?"

"Well, I don't want her to he behind the children of her own age," sald Mrs. Richmond, hesitatingly, "But she's such a tiny thing! I feel as if it would be deliberately giving my haby over to the hands of the destroyer."

"You might teach her at home," ventured Richmond. His wife's face brightened. "So I might," she returned, "and I do he-ileve I will." Then she looked dublous for a moment, "But I don't know what to teach her." "Teach her her letters," said Richmond. "That was good enough for you and me, and I've heard lots of people complain that their children didn't know the alphabet."

"I believe I'll try," said Mrs. Rich-

"Now, Frances, darling," she said, with the carefulty assumed veneer of buoyancy in which she had seen kindergartners and other guardians of the infant intelligence enwrap themselves as with a garment, "you and I are going to have a dear little school right here in the nursery."

"I would rather," remarked the prospective pupil reflectively, "have a higapple and a piece of candy."

"Well, may be we'll have those, too," agreed the embryotic instructress, "but not until after we've had our lesson.

"What's a lesson?" inquired the pupil, "It's-let's see. It's to teach you your letters, so you can read lovely storles out of hooks."

Frances pondered this for a moment. "But I'd rather have you read them to me," said said, after proper reflection.

"But you can't always have me to do that, dear," said Mrs. Richmond firmly. She drew Frances into her lap and opened the book with which she had decided to hegin the fray. "Ail the little girls learn to read and mother would be terribly ashamed if her little girl didn't. Now, look at this funny letter with the two legs and the piece across the middle like a queer little ladder. What do you think that letter is?" "I never saw it before," said Frances, "so I guess I don't care about its name."

"Well, that letter is named A," said one ia B."

"Is it?" Frances inquired with per functory politness. "I guess I don't like to read very well," she explained courteously, as she made a tentative effort to get down from her mother's

"But you'll have to learn, dearle, two legs is."

Frances put a fat forefinger on the letter.

"No, lambkin," said her mother
"No, lambkin," said her mother firmly. "That's A. See how funny it tooks with the two stanting legs and the little piece between them. Now, what's its name?"

Frances heaved a deep sigh. "I guess we'll call it B," she said, with genlie firmness. "But it's A, precious," Insisted her mother. "Is it?" inquired Frances. "I think

I'll call it B." "Now, Frances," said her mother sternly, "you know that letter is A, and you must say it." There was no reply. Frances was observing a sparrow shaking itself on the window ledge. "Frances," her mother said, "tell mother what that letter it." "Oh, mother," Frances cried joyous ly, "did you see that sparrow picking his tooth with its feather?"

Mrs. Richmond set her small daugh ter down on the floor. "Now, Frances," she said, "tell me the name of that letter or I'll put you to hed."

Frances looked up at the ceiling and crossed her fat hands on her little stomach. "We'll call it B," she said finally.

Half an hour later Mrs. Richmond went into Frances' little room. A eweetly smiling face looked up at her from the bed.

"Baby," she pleaded, "please do as mother wante you to. Mother hates to punish her haby. Tell me the right name of this letter." She drew out the hook and laid her finger on the much discussed letter. There was a breathless pause. "Well, muvver," said a bored voice deliberately, "may it's an A for you, but I guess I'll call it B."

"I think I'll have to send Frances to echool after all," admitted Mrs. Richmond to Frances' father that evening after dinner. "I'm afraid my method of imparting instruction is not suf-ficiently modern."

that it is worth. The opponents of Woodrow Wilson are trying to use the hard times of 1893-4-5 as an argument against Wilson and a democratic victory. The Taft followers make the mistake of calling the democratic party a free-trade-party and a tariff-for-revenue only party straight to free-trade or to a reve-nue tariff hasis in the case of democratic success.

Forty Thousand Aiready Pledged

The Wilson National Progressive lengue, headed by Rudolph Speckles the wealthy San Francisco reformer has secured the pledges of forty thousand Republiaens to support Governor Wilson. These men are deeply disappointed that the Republiean Convention did not name a progressive, but they declined to follow Roosevelt out of the party as they had no sympathy with the third term movement. The League is of-ficered by such men as Dr. Wiley, the former government pure food man, Senator Blaine, the law partner of LaFollette, and others fally as prominent in Republican party.

Very, Very Innocent

Col. Roosevelt testifed before the Senate Investigating Committee that he was not personally aware of any specific contribution to his campaign fund and that he made no promises or concessions to anyone. If all those who believe that statement were required to stand on their heads the anmber would not occasion any special comment. Everybody knows that the interests are not in the habit of throwing money to the hirds. They would not have given millions without some promise of protection. They are too well versed in business to make a bad investment of so much money.

President Taft, who was wout to be called "Smiling Bill" is a sanguine old soul, that is to say he tries to look on the bright side of things. He has just given out an interview democratic administration that he has no doubt of his election. SPELL OF TRAGEDY HANGS OVER HOME

Scene of Fatal Duel Between Brothers Long Noted for Deeds of Blood.

BENEATH AN EVIL STAR

Accidents Costing Severel Lives Heve Recently Been Followed by a Mortal Combet That Still Remains a Mystery.

edy hangs over the Peterman bome in Sugarloaf township, where, only a few deys ago, there wes fought the duel that resulted in the death of one Peterman brother and the wounding of the other, who is recovering and will be tried for murder.

Since the hour when the news of the terrible affair at the Peterman form became circulated over the quiet countrysids the history of the Peterman homestead, with its tragedles. hagan to be recited over and over.

Fifteen years ago, when the Peterman family was augmented by the marriage of John Peterman to a widow of the Sugarioaf district and the bringing of ber three children under the Peterman roof tree, the family was one of the happiest of that pictureaque section. One day Mrs. Peterman was boiling soft soap in a large kettle that swung from a crane in the old loghouse. It was a ponderous cauldron, bolding many gailons of the grease from the annual hog butchering, and the soap was to be of such quantity that it would answer the bouaebold all winter.

Somehow-just how nobody seemed to know-one of the widow's children, tn playing about the blazing fire, knocked the holling kettle from its fastening, and the mass of sizzling grease spilled over, end not only that particular child, but the two other children of the woman, scalding all so badly that they died in a few hours.

The tragedy so appalled the mother that for a long time it was feared she would lose her mind, and for a long time the old loghouse was shut up, not even used as a storehouse, the memory of the kettle tragedy being so poignant that the place wes abandoned. Today it standa as a link between the hideous past and the more bideous present.

One day a few years after the terrible wiping out of Mrs. Peterman's little ones, her hushand was at work in the fields not 200 yards from the bouse. A high wind, an accompaniment to a terrific storm, swept over the countryelde, and just when Peterman was passing at a diatance in which the limbs of the monarch caught end pinned him to the ground. a ponderous tree on the knoll was blown over and Farmer Peterman was killed. His grave was added to the row of little graves in the Sugarloaf cemetery, and alongside that of the Aiways the history of the Petermen farm was referred to in tones of eadness, and the place grew to be associated with the community in sort of a weird way. But the capsheaf of Its tragio history was that enacted somewhere in the house or out of it, with knife and a stone and fist, in the darkness the other night between the two brothers, who were equally interested in the property.

There were two-score knife wounds tn the body of Abram Peterman when the undertaker came to lay out his body for burial, and the feca and head were hattered in as though done with a stone. His hody had been found at the foot of a wall, or overshot, near the Peterman farmhouse, and in the latter the brother, John, himself terribly wounded as though he bad been attacked by a veritable madman, was found to a semi-unconaclous condition. Ha acknowledged having slain bis brother, but declared that if he bad not killed Abram ha himself would have forfaited his lifa, Wilson Stands For a Principle—-Will You Stand By Him?

Woodrow Wilson is a vastly different order of man than you find among the ranks of many good men in practical political life.

Woodrow Wilson is not among the great majority of politicians and business men, otherwise estimable characters, who believe that the end justifies the means, who are honest in a commercial or political sense. The candidate of the progressive voters of the country not only does not believe in the doctrine of every detail of Woodrow Wilson proposes to win on the merits of his candidacy and platform or not at all. Clean hands or no fight" is Wilson's ultimatum to his supporters throughout the country.

No Tainted Money For Wilson

Not a dollar of questionable money will be spent to elect Woodrow Wilson. The Democratic National Committee is heart and soul in accord with the candidate's views.

And the corrupting influences, with no political faith, casting about to win a foothold in the new government with bribes of ill-gotten gains, have despaired of reaching Wilson or his campaigners. They have gone to the enemy, whoever that enemy may be. matter of common knowledge that Interests" are using all their political funds to defeat Wilson. This makes it your fight.

What the American People Need to Know The people have constantly made the mistake of believing that this is a money-ridden nation.

Such is only the case insofar as the People fail to get together and so permit the few to control the dishonest representatives they, by mistake, elect to office. The actual money power of the People is still greater than that of the Interests.

The Progressive People of the country, if they get together, can buy and sell the Corrupting Influences destroy their financial power. So Woodrow Wilson and his managers believe that not only is it the only clean method but the most practical method for the Progressive People of the country to supply the Woodrow Wilson Campaign Fund. The People to Fight With THEIR Dollars

This year a popular president is to be elected with the People's money.

The Woodrow Wilson Campaign Fund is to be collected from the rank and file of the Progressive Voters The bills of the Democratic National Committee are to be paid, not with the thousands of the Interests, but with the individual dollars of the earnest, eager voters who desire clean, efficient government and who are willing to help Wilson as he wants to be helped.

Money thus needed is not spent in improper ways or in sny manner similar to the way in which the funds of the Interests are disbursed.

But we have to tell the voters of the country about Woodrow Wilson. We have to tell them what he has done. We have to tell them what he stands for. We have to point out to them the important planks in his platform. All this means that to hold op our end we will be obliged to spend as much money as those who oppose us.

This means that every man or woman who believes in Wilson should be willing to contribute to his cause.

Let the supporters of Wilson help us to spread the Wilson gospel to the four winds.

Let the Progressive Voters battle this year with their pocketbooks as well as their ballots.

We Solicit Popular Subscriptions—Can You Give From $1 to $20? Of course, you can—and you are glad to support the cause in this way.

Practically every voter can afford to give $1 to aid the Wilson Campaign. A great many can give $2. A great many can give $5. And there are lots and lots of progressive voters who will be eager to donate from $10 to $20.

These are the kind of contributions we want.

And we will be proud to receive from thousands, who can only afford $1, their $1 contributions. We want to hest from every man who has a dollar to give.

This year the man with the dollar must deleat the government traducer who spends his thousands.

Get Club Subscriptions II you know many Wilson men, il you work among many Wilson men, head a list with your name sad money and get the others to join you with their subscriptions.

Then send your list with the money to C. R. Crane, Vice Chalrman, Finance Committee, Democratic National Committee, 900 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Illinois.

No loyat Wilson man can do more than this to assure Wilson's victory at the polls in November.
